

Software Usage Disclaimer

Use of Software and User-Generated Audio Content on Octave Technologies Devices

Octave Technologies Ltd. pre-installs certain freeware applications, open-source plugins, and user-generated audio content on its devices. These tools are provided under permissive licenses, freeware terms, or public-use agreements, with explicit permission obtained from their creators where required.

This includes, but is not limited to:

- REAPER (60-day trial version) – by Cockos Incorporated (<https://www.reaper.fm/dist-agreement.php>)
- AIDA-X DSP – Amp Modeler Plugin (<https://aida-x.cc/>)
- BYOD (Build Your Own Distortion) – by ChowDSP (<https://chowdsp.com/products.html>)
- Vocal Menace VSTs – by Chris Liepe (<https://www.mymusicalvoice.com/p/vocal-menace-by-chris-liepe>)
- Spiral Delay and DimensionPlus Reverb – by Davisynth (<https://www.davisynth.com/>)
- Decent Sampler VST plugin – including free sample libraries shared by individual creators online (<https://www.decentsamples.com/product/decent-sampler-plugin/> and Privacy Policy <https://www.decentsamples.com/privacy-policy/>)
- GuitarML (<https://github.com/GuitarML/Proteus>)
- Neural Amp Modeler (NAM) – by Steve Atkinson including profiles from individual contributors (<https://github.com/sdatkinson/neural-amp-modeler?tab=MIT-1-ov-file>)
- Surge XT – fully open-source synthesizer (<https://surge-synthesizer.github.io/>)
- TAL Software Freeware Plugins – by Togu Audio Line (<https://tal-software.com/disclaimer>)
- Windows Update Blocker – by Sordum (<https://www.sordum.org/>)

We also include select NAM, AIDA-X profiles, Impulse Responses (IRs) and Audio Samples created and shared by independent sound designers on platforms such as the ToneHunt3000 and Decent Sampler website. These assets remain the intellectual property of their original authors, and are used in accordance with the terms of free and open public distribution provided on those platforms. No alterations are made to these assets, and no ownership is claimed by Octave Technologies Ltd.

Licensing and Usage

All pre-installed software and content remains governed by their original End User License Agreements (EULAs), open-source licenses, or other publicly communicated terms of use.

Customers are responsible for adhering to any relevant licensing terms after trial periods expire, and must purchase commercial licenses where applicable if continuing use beyond evaluation or non-commercial purposes.

Content Rights Inquiries

If you are a developer, creator, or rights holder and believe your software or digital content is being included without proper authorization, or would like to update your distribution preferences, please contact us immediately at info@octavetech.eu.